

|                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|---------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| EDUCATION           | School of Information Management, Wuhan University B.S. in Archival Science (admitted to an integrated B.S./M.S./Ph.D. Honors Program in Computational Cultural Heritage) GPA: 3.62/4.00Sep 2022 - Jun 2026Thesis: “Design of an Automated System for Flowchart Generation from Scientific and Technical Literature” — Outstanding Undergraduate Thesis (top 10 of 228)Course : Information System Analysis and Design(94), Computational Thinking and Data Science(89), Data Structures(88), Machine Learning(88) School of Computer Science, Wuhan University B.S. in Computer Science and Technology (Double Degree) Mar 2024 - Jun 2026Course : Database Systems(95), Advanced Programming Language(88), Object-Oriented Programming(86), Operating Systems (84), Computer Organization and Architecture(83) |
| PUBLICATIONS        | 1. M. Muhetaer , A. Yusupu , Y. Wang , M. Mutalipu , H. Fan. Application of Medical QA Dialogue Datasets in RAG Systems: Performance Evaluation and Optimization of ChatGPT. Scientific Reports (JCR Q1 , IF=3.9).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| RESEARCH EXPERIENCE | MindVision Lab   School of Artificial Intelligence, Wuhan UniversityOct 2025 - PresentResearching multimodal figure generation, supervised by Prof. Chaofeng Chen. IR Lab   School of Information Management, Wuhan UniversityOct 2024 - Sep 2025Researched understanding and processing of complex scientific figures, supervised by Prof. Fengchang Yu. ARCIDS Lab   School of Information Management, Wuhan UniversityJun 2024 - Sep 2024Contributed to the development of an intelligent processing and analysis system for electronic document images. UT Austin   University of Texas at AustinJan 2026 - Feb 2026Visiting student studying software engineering.                                                                                                                    |
| SKILLS              | Programming Languages: Python Frameworks &amp; Libraries: PyTorch, OpenCV, Scikit-learn Languages: Bilingual in Uyghur and Mandarin; English                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| EXPERIENCE          | Half-Marathon Finisher, Chengdu MarathonOct 2023 Marathon Finisher, Wuhan MarathonApr 2024 Member, Wuhan University Long-Distance Running AssociationSep 2022 - Present                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |